

Millennials in Travel

Director Roles

Leading the organization, the Directors are responsible for the overall success of Millennials in Travel. This includes, but is not limited to, maintaining the organization's mission and brand, ensuring effective operations, membership growth and program development, and maintains financial solvency. The Directors are responsible for their respective teams' programs and initiatives. Each Director should expect to work around 20-30 hours per month including director, national and team meetings. Should a national manager position on their team be vacant, the Director will assume those responsibilities. As a team, the Directors serve as a Board to determine major decisions on the organization's structure and operations. The value in holding these positions is greater industry exposure, sharpening leadership and project management skills, and trailblazing an international organization.

Director of Strategic Development

Responsible for the organization's growth, this position focuses on overall industry relationships, initiative development and sustainable growth. The positions which support this role are Technology, Industry Relations & Advocacy and Philanthropy & Sustainability. Additionally, this Director works with the Gen Z Advisor on the development of Gen Z in Travel, a new organization designed as a succession plan for the organization.

Director of Operations

This position is responsible for the development and implementation of all internal operations, managing the recruitment and onboarding for leadership, leading monthly meetings, maintaining records and processes, and overseeing all chapter activity and development, as well as managing all organization events. The positions which support this role are FAMs, Events and Chapter Operations, the latter being the primary liaison between international and chapter leadership teams.

Director of Membership

Leading member programs, this position is responsible for the development of the organization's key initiatives that benefit members and the industry while ensuring a succinct network ultimately driving membership growth. The positions which support this role are Professional Development and Exclusive Benefits.

Director of Communications

Responsible for all internal and external communication, this position focuses on creating a cohesive and engaged brand through a variety of media channels through the distribution of relevant content. The positions which support this role are Social Media, Digital Content and Media Relations, the latter which includes non-travel sources.

For an organigram, please click here.